Cline was here this week from his home on lower Tonto. He says Tonto basin around Cline is a garden spot and the range looks better now than it has for fifteen years and livestock of all kinds is in good condition. Bipeds are not faring so well, feed having been short for some time, owing to the continued high water in Salt river, which has been unfordable for nearly three months, so that the residents of Tonto have been unable to get flour and other supplies, except in very small quantities. A ferry across Salt river at Roosevelt would be a paying proposition.
CHILDREN'S DAY

A Most Welcoming Invitation

For the Care of Dependent Children

A. H. Gunter, superintendent of the Children's Home, has been informed that the number of children in the Home is expanding, and the need for new facilities is increasing. He is in the process of designing a new building that will accommodate the growing population. The new facility will include classrooms, dormitories, and recreational spaces to provide a comfortable and nurturing environment for the children. Mr. Gunter is especially grateful for the support of the community in making this project a reality.
