Louis Selly is turning out to be a master boat builder, completing one very recently for Doctor Smith and now having another one almost completed for Dan Goggins, chief electrician for J. M. O'Rourke & Company. In the meantime, he has orders ahead for two or three more, one of which goes to Jim Holmes as soon as it can be built. As he is putting up a good article at a very low figure, he is apt to be kept busy for some time.
